New Operator To Overcome Electric Clock Problem

LAC LA BICHE—In a recent letter to the town from J. F. Farrell. field superintendent for Northland Utilities Ltd., it was explained that electric clocks depend directly on frequency rather than voltage, and the frequency depends upon the speed of the engines driving the generators, these engines must be fitted with very sensitive governors.

In the plant here, the governors do not hold the engines, while unattended, to a close enough speed to maintain this frequency to 60 cycles as required by the clocks. As a move to overcome this problem, the company is placing an extra operator in the Lac la Biche plant so that the engines will not be unattended at any time. Peter Dribnenski has joined the staff of Northland here.

In Edson they will be on Retreat. The Retreat will be conducted by the Rev. Howard Buchner, one of the mission priests stationed at Edson. Later in the week the two deacons will return to their parishes.

New Headquarters For School Division Offices Near Completion

The building on Main Street, formerly occupied by the B & L Store, is receiving extensive alternations and will emerge shortly as the new headquarters for the Lac la Biche school division offices

Construction foreman Dan Joncas, in an interview on Thursday, stated the building should be ready for occupancy in about two weeks time.

The front section of the building 50x36 feet, will house the light and airy main office, private offices for Mr. George Filipchuk, superintendent, and W. J. Chester, secretary-treasurer, of the division, a spacious Board room, large library and separate wash rooms. Additional space of about the same dimensions at the rear of the building will be used as a warehouse for school supplies.

The main office, with walls and ceiling painted a cheerful yellow, has wainscotting of plywood finished in light varnish. The floor will be modern tile and an oil furnace will be used in heating the quarters.

The building now occupied by the offices in expected to be used as a repair shop by the construction crew during the winter months, as much of the school furnishings are assembled during the off-season, when outside construction is not practical.

Council Approves Appropriation Of $200.00 For Christmas Lights

Decorative Christmas lights for the town was a subject for discussion at last Tuesday's council meeting ,and the sum of $200.00 was appropriated for that purpose.

All members of council, with the exception of Councillor Maccagno were present for the regular meeting. Building perimts for the Federal Building, the new school addition and an addition to a dwelling, were approved with the total estimated cost amounting to $171,-200.

Correspondence from the N.A.R. asking for the right to place shavings over their water line on Gault Street, was read and discussed. Council voted to refuse the Railroad the right to put shavings on the street as was done last year, because of the nuisance caused by the shavings. The secretary was asked to arrange for the nuisance grounds to be put in order as soon as possible.

Correspondence was read regarding the operation of electric clocks. The finance committee reported on its recommendations regarding remuneration to members of the fire brigade. Accounts totalling $1,385.-40 were passed for payment.

Meet Mr. Fred Gies, dowser, water diviner, soothsayer and prophet. Mr. Gies doesn't claim all these adjectives for himself, but others do for him. At present, he and his apple twigs, with which he is reputed able to find water, are being used by the city of Galt, Ont., after the city's water commissioner, Fred Hucaluk, spent $2,000 drilling for water with unsatisfactory results. Mr. Gies, who also makes predictions on the rise and fall of stocks in the market, has no explanation for his gift which is credited with finding water in dozens of places. He holds the forked twigs as shown here, and over water, they turn downward.

The next time six-year-old Wayne Topping, of Galt, Ont., sets out to "see the world," you can be sure he won't travel by train. Twice he used this means of transportation to reach London and Toronto, only to be returned home post-haste to his anxious parents by trainmen. The past two week-ends have seen Wayne, seen above, sauntering down to railway station and climbing aboard train without a ticket.

The premier of New Brunswick, seen above, was accused in the House of Commons by A. W. Stuart (Lib., Charlotte) of turning the Beechwood hydro-electric power project on the St. John river into a gigantic "patronage enterprise." "The lumber being used at Beechwood is being purchased from one of the companies owned and controlled by Premier Hugh John Fleming," said Mr. Stuart, who added that "there are six or seven companies with which the gentleman is associated which are doing business directly with the provincial government." The member urged the federal government to examine the Beechwood development very carefully before deciding to help New Brunswick build the project through grants or a guarantee of bonds.

When informed recently of the refusal of the parents, because of their religious beliefs, to let their dying infant receive blood transfusions to save its life, Magistrate Hugh Arrell, above, of Hamilton, Ont., ordered the transfusions to take place under the Children's Protection act. The act permits a magistrate to transfer care of a child to the Children's Aid Society when he finds neglect on the part of the parents. The day-old child born with RH negative blood was returned to his Jehovah Witness parents 10 days later in good health. The order was revealed in light of controversy after the death of a young mother of five in Englehart, Ont., who refused a transfusion which would have saved her life, because of her religious beliefs. In the case of an adult patient, however, there is no legal or ethical right which permits a doctor to treat a patient against his will, even to save a life.

Everything went against Howie Lee, at left, and Jim Hendy at Toronto meeting of the Ontario Hockey association, which ruled that the Cleveland Barons had violated hockey's pro-amateur agreement in signing Lee and ordered the defenceman back to the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the OHA immediately under threat of suspension. Lee, a member of Canada's 1956 Olympic hockey team, has been involved in a controversy ever since bolting to the American league club after returning home from Olympic games. Barons' general manager, Jim Hendy, had charged the Dutchmen with breach of conditions of contract in their dealings with Lee, which he claimed nullified the K-W hold on the player. He also insisted the Barons originally signed Lee to a $5,000 contract last fall, but tore it up "out of patriotism" (as he was born in Canada) to allow Howie to represent Canada at the Olympics.

Besides being pretty enough to be crowned Queen of Quebec city's Winter Carnival, 20-year-old Denise Amyot can also cook. She proved that recently by winning Canadian cherry pie baking contest. The event, sponsored by country's cherry growers and processors, actually began a month ago when home economic students from Ontario and Quebec universities began competing for provincial titles. When the field was narrowed down to Denise of Laval university in Quebec city and 18-year-old Dorothy Carroll of University of Western Ontario, bake-off for Canadian title was held in Toronto. The winner will now go on to compete against American students in Chicago for North American championship on Feb. 21.

Socreds O.K. Athabasca Motion But Reject Lac la Biche Bid

Last week delegates to the Social Credit Convention in Edmonton considered resolutions from Lac la Biche and Athabasca constituencies.

Rejected was a suggestion from Lac la Biche to remove the ban on members of the legislative assembly borrowing money from provincial treasury branches. Also voted down was a request from Leduc for additional grants to municipalities affected by development of natural resources.

But convention approved a request from Athabasca asking the government to consider issuing a special harvest licence for trucks not otherwise driven on the roads. Also passed was a resolution from Edmonton calling for payment of individual dividends but Premier Manning pointed out the government started the system last year with its $50 jubilee dividends to pensioners.

In our opinion, enjoying the beauties of life, and living and helping others brings genuine happiness.

Plea From E. W. Hinman For Reconsideration Is Refused

By GRAHAM SMITH in the Calgary Albertan

EDMONTON — Alberta Social Credit League bluntly opposed any form of provincial sales tax with resolutions opening its two-day convention here. A plea from Provincial Treasurer E. W. Hinman calling for more study of taxation was firmly resisted as delegates voted overwhelmingly to reject the hot political potato.

PRINCIPLES OUTLINED

Another important event at the convention Tuesday evoked fewer fireworks but may have far-reaching echoes throughout Canada. It was a 10-point declaration of principles and policy issued by Premier E. C. Manning for the "On-To-Ottawa" drive of the Social Credit Party.

The Manning manifesto was handed out to delegates for study in their constituencies. He said it was a timely reiteration of principles marking the 21st birthday of the Social Credit government in Alberta and intended as a guide to national policy.

"Unless we have a clear and possible statement of principles and policies," he told the assembly, "we are not going to be able to measure up to responsibility or opportunity in the days that lie ahead."

The manifesto outlines the philosophy of individual rights, free enterprise, finance, taxation, social welfare and even extends to export trade and international relations.

KEY TO PEACE?

Premier Manning, admitting that his carefully-worded statement must arouse discussion, proposed that international peace might be ensured with each nation recognized as sovereign within its own territory and obligated to respect the equal sovereignty of all others.

Canada should implement these principles within the British Commonwealth and should resist all efforts to weaken or sever these ties.

Summarized, the manifesto declares:

1. INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS. The individual citizen is entitled to complete freedom of choice and action in any sphere within the necessary limits imposed by respect for the equal rights of others, the eternal laws of right and wrong, and the moral and ethical standards and public policies adopted by the people collectively for the preservation of organized society and the good and welfare of its individual members.

2. FUNCTION OF GOVERNMENT. It is not the function of government to invade the fields of individual and co-operative enterprise, to assume responsibilities which rightfully belong to the individual citizen or to interfere with the rights of individuals except to ensure the equal rights of others.

E. W. HINMAN
Provincial Treasurer

3. INDIVIDUAL AND CO-OPERATIVE ENTERPRISE. Individual enterprise should be entitled to just reward. co-operative enterprise is a worthy and legitimate form of enterprise but both exceed legitimate bounds when they seek to gain a monopoly in any field or to impose compulsory participation.

4. PUBLIC UTILITIES. Should be under strict government regulation and control as a check on its monopoly.

5. NATIONAL FINANCE. The purpose and function is to provide an acceptable medium of exchange with aggregate purchasing power sufficient under a free price economy to permit the distribution of goods equal in value to the nation's industrial output in any given cycle with each citizen afforded an opportunity to acquire a minimum share as a right of citizenship. Premier Manning said the league must decide the case of the lazy citizen who refused to work and still wanted these benefits.

6. TAXATION. The people themselves pay for all government services — a fact lost sight of in recent years because of "silly, cockeyed" social ideas.

7. FEDERAL - PROVINCIAL - MUNICIPAL RELATIONS. A federal system of tax revenue subsidy should be implemeted and financed by a progressive expansion of the national debt through the Bank of Canada. Conditional grants should be discontinued and each level of government should have its share of public revenues.

8. SOCIAL WELFARE. A major objective of organized society should be to assist each citizen to attain through his own enterprise sufficient financial resources to enable him to obtain for himself and dependents an acceptable standard of social welfare without dependence on state welfare services. To the extent this is impossible, society collectively must assume the cost of an acceptable standard of services to bring them within financial reach of each citizen. In other, words, it would subsidize services but not provide them free.

9. EXPORT. Export trade should be stimulated by acceptance of other currency such as sterling and by credit advances. The Bretton Woods agreement stopped Canada accepting sterling.

10. INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS. Practically every war recorded in history is due to lack of respect for sovereign rights. This could be overcome by organized international co-operation.

TOUGHER TIME

Mr. Hinman had a tougher time than the premier when he tried to impress delegates with the need for study of municipal taxation and he declared himself disappointed with the number of resolutions opposing such tax. Convention passed a total of six resolutions, from the constituences opposing sales tax and one opposed personal property tax.

The successful resolutions came from Lac Ste. Anne, Edmonton, Vegreville, Macleod, Pincher Creek - Crowsnest and Grande Prairie.

The famous stand of Cochrane farmer Clarence Copithorne against power lines crossing his ranch without permission was strongly applauded by the convention.

Reiterating the tenet that "the right of private ownership of property is a fundamental principle of Social Credit," the assembly approved a resolution instructing the Alberta government to ensure "that no power line shall cross private property if an acceptable and reasonable alternative route is available."

Home-Grown Diamonds

Canada has amongst its vast mineral resources a very rich diamond deposit. This mine has already produced more than a million dollars' worth of the highest grade gems. The famous gem house of Tiffany and Co. in New York City have some of these Canadian diamonds and they have spent vast sums of money in a vain attempt to solve the source of their origin.

Since the death of the late Dr. Alfred Kunz, an outstanding geologist, who spent some ten years on this mystery for Tiffany's, a great deal of new knowledge concerning the geology of the far Canadian Northland has come to light. This knowledge was closed to him. He was content to work from the known base line and to make his projections northward by mathematics. And what a base line he had to work from.

It extended from the western shores of Lake Michigan to central New York State, well below eastern Lake Ontario. In that area, during the past century, considerably more than one hundred magnificent diamonds have been picked up. This area is just above the extreme southern limits of the great ice shove of the last "ice age"; which geologists estimate occurred some twelve or fifteen thousand years ago. There is no doubt but that the advancing ice ripped off the top layer of this mysterious diamond deposit. The diamonds were carried southward as the ice advanced and when Old Sol again took command of the situation the diamonds were left in the glacial debris as the ice melted.

Cannot "Sell" Sales Tax

Judging by the feeling of the recent Social Credit convention, the Alberta Government has failed to "sell" the idea of a Sales Tax. We think the Socreds are pretty well supported throughout the Province, by customers and retailers alike.

Government men have said several times they never have tried to put across a sales tax. They said the municipalities are asking for money, more tax opportunities and the Sales Tax was one merely suggested.

Alberta had a sales tax between 1936 and 1937 and it was probably the most hated imposition Albertans ever struggled against. Very likely the people figure if they can do without it in depression times, why should we have it now, in the richest community of the Commonwealth.

In spite of that, we forecast you'll hear more of it in the future.

The Bible And Good Manners

Readers of the Bible shoud be interested in its numerous references to the subject of good manners.

In 1st Peter 3:8 (all quotations from the King James version), it says, "Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous."

It is part of good manners, as well as of mental health, to put down feelings of irritation and criticism in living and working with others.

In Ecclesiastes 4, it says, "Better is a handful with quietness, than both hands full with travail and vexation of spirit."

And then there is this quotation from Proverbs, I think, "He that hath no rule over his own spirit is like a city that is broken down, and without walls."

From Proverbs 22 comes the famous Biblical quotation, "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold."

Ecclesiastes 10 reads, "The words of a wise man are gracious."

And last, my favorite of all Biblical quotations, 1st Corinthians 13: "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as a sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal."

In these wonderful words is a veritable pattern of good behavior.

Alberta Shows The Way

(Calgary Albertan)

Several years ago, when the Alberta government set up four counties on an experimental basis, The Albertan registered strong opposition. However, the experiments are now considered to have been successful and more and more of rural Alberta is being organized on that basis.

Since this is the first western province to go into the county system, the other provinces are holding a watching brief. Saskatchewan's rural municipal problems are much the same as Alberta's and that province in particular is studying Alberta's experience.

Instead of separate municipal and school districts and perhaps hospital districts, perhaps but not necessarily with co-terminous boundaries, each electing its own officials, and running its own show, the county system provides for one large administrative unit and one county council, running school affairs, hospital affairs, municipal affairs, and so on.

Our fear, and the fear of many others, was that under this system education would tend to take a secondary place to other municipal functions. But it hasn't worked out that way.

The Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities, the Saskatchewan Teachers' Federation and the Saskatchewan School Trustees' Association each have sent observers to Alberta. The municipalities are rather non-commital, the teachers are definitely opposed, but the trustees are heartily in favor of counties, after having studied Alberta.

Chief advantage, in the opinion of the trustees, was attraction of better personnel, and a better deal for the taxpayer. The problems of education were not neglected, they said.

> One councillor is elected from a certain area and he represents the ratepayers of that area for all local services. The electors are not confused by having different representatives for different purposes. Having responsibility for all local services, the county council can weight the needs against the resources and decide on the fair and proper distribution of the tax dollar.

If Saskatchewan were to change to counties, the trustees recommend that the change be swift, definite and complete rather than gradual. Establishment of an independent commission to map out boundaries was also recommended.

"Kwitchurbelyakin"

The above is a sign in the office of Jas. McNamara, of Boyle. It's what is known technically as a "concertina word" and the tune it plays is for you, too.

Note and Comment

Of all the jobs we know of, the most demanding would be the ministry.

One cat to another, watching a tennis match: "My brother's in that racket."

There are too many people ready to lead any effort to organize or promote anything.

The "authoritative" voices one finds in every community are quite numerous.

Autumn is the time of year when young men are still absorbed in what their fancy lightly turned to in the spring.

The pacifists are too often people who let others win the wars, so they can win the peace.

Bible Today

He shall pray unto God, and he will be favorable unto him: and he shall see his face with joy: for he will render unto man his righteousness.

—Job 33:26.

Almighty Power, by whose most wise command, helpless, forlorn, uncertain, here I stand, take this faint glimmer of thyself away, or break into my soul with perfect day! — Arbuthnot.

BEEF IN RHYME

I've got a beef I wish you would put in your Voice of the People column. If you can find that much space. It seems to me though old people don't get much consideration from anyone but these radio stations sure get our goats. There are times during the day when the whole lot of them have the same trash on their program. I mean sports, so called. If it isn't one lunatic screaming his head off about some fool game, when the umpire kicked the puck over the fence for a home run with the quarterback five yards across the blue line or something like that, then it's another. I've written it in rhyme, so it would receive more attention by people of the same or different opinion. Here it is:

I've got me a beef I want expressed
I've written it in rhyme by a friend's request
If it doesn't sound so hot just don't blame me
I'm in no kind of mood for delicacy.
'Jever come in from a hard day's work
And sit down by your radio
And twist the dial to a station near-by
Then settle back for a darn good show?
I'll bet you did an' what didja' get?
A screaming moron that sounds all wet
A-yelling his head off 'bout some guy
That kicked the baseball way up in the sky.
You twist your dial to another station
It sounds like a raid by "Carrie Nation"
You hear a big mob a rantin' and a ravin'
About an umpire that's been a misbehavin'.
The radio stations get roundly cussed
It's good they can't hear you they'd be apt to bust
You turn off your receiver and pull off your sox
And play yourself a tune on the old squeeze-box.
I think sportscasters are all plain nuts
If you don't like my opinion and you have the guts
Then jump in your jalopy in your nice sport clothes
Drive out to where I live and try to "punch my nose"
Pembridge. CHARLIE.

INFLATION GROAN

How long are these unions going to fool the people? They strike for more money. What happens then? Prices on everything go up, and the union member is still where he started. The only ones who benefit are the government, which takes more out of our pay envelopes. It's time to put a stop to this phony scheme.

POLITICAL IMPRESSION

Say, the way the Democrats knocked the republicans and the Republicans knocked the Democrats, it seems to me that neither party is fit to be in Congress!

CONFUSED CANADIAN

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Remembrance Day brings out various thoughts. Our local druggist a very likeable chap, young, I'm sure he was a young school boy during the war years, had a whole window of the drug store devoted to the display of a lovely wreath.

It made me feel proud to know him and with a glad feeling in my heart I kept walking down the street.

SCHOOL DAYS THRILL

Dear Mr. Pue:

I have received two copies of the Edmonton Sun. It is a good paper, and I just have to say this, I got a real thrill out of the "September School Daze", Sept. 20. Wish half the people in the world felt like that. I think we've missed something by not knowing you. Thank you!

FAR-FETCHED

I would like to make a few comments on an article printed in the Athabasca Advance entitled "Retired Athabasca Farmer Relates Hardships of Early Homestead Days", by Henry Thompson.

Now perhaps all he said about the hardships of the early days may be true, but there is so much of the rest of it that is just a bit too far fetched to sound logical. The expansive fields and modern equipment is such a laugh to anyone who knows the place. And the five thousand bushels of grain threshed a year is a much bigger laugh. You see there are many people who know these things, such as the threshers. I don't think people should be misled to that extent. You try and feed 5,000 bushels of grain a year to the amount of stock they feed and I am sure they either waste a lot or the stock must sure be in good shape.

Now look at the farm that he has built up. It took say 45 years to do it. For many years he had two grown daughters who also worked very hard to make things go. (He never even mentioned that in his write up). Those two girls were as good as any two hired men. They stayed alone on the home place taking care of stock while Mr. O'Connor and wife lived closer to a school so they could send son Tom to school. I believe in giving credit where credit is due. One daughter is still at home today. So you see he didn't do it all alone. I am quite sure the O'Connor farm today would never be classed in the modern category by anyone knowing what modern farms are like. I don't think our readers should be misled about how easy it is to make a living on the farm today. Sure if a boy has a ready made start on a farm today, he may be able to keep going. But one who has to start from scratch just can't do it. Then what better reason for leaving the farm? Do you think they'll ever come back once they leave? They'd be foolish if they did.

Soon the only ones left to farm will be the older people who have already given the best years of their lives and they can't go forever.

So come on folks and admit it. When it is hard to pay our taxes let's say so and not try to make something big out of our poor grey wooded soil. We can't fool the tax collector, so why try and fool ourselves, or the public.

Yes, definitely farming shall always be a permanent occupation, but if the present trend keeps up it will be an occupation without folks to run it.

A BELIEVER OF FACTS.

Athabasca.

DISTRICT AGRICULTURIST NOTES

By J. S. LORE

In the last column we discussed the management of sows and litters. This column is a continuation of that column and concludes the management of the litters to weaning time.

6. Prevent nutritional anemia in pigs kept on concrete or wood floors by swabbing the sow's udder once a day with a saturated ferrous-sulfate solution (1 lb. of ferrous sulfate in 3 quarts of water) or by sprinkling it in the pen where the pigs can root at it. Start this treatment before the pigs are one week old. Other equally effective ways to prevent anemia are discussed above.

7. Creep-feed a palatable pig starter ration from one to eight weeks of age.

8. Castrate boar pigs at two to four weeks of age or earlier.

9. Vaccinate for cholera when pags are eight to 12 weeks of age. If a killed vaccine is used, wait until they are 10 weeks old. Lapinized (modified live virus) vaccines may be used prior to weaning time.

10.—Wean the pigs by the time they are eight weeks old. Those that are thrifty, eat well, and weigh 20 lbs. can be weaned as early as five weeks of age. Keep them on the pig starter ration until they weigh 35 or 40 lbs.

11. Spray sows and pigs with lindane or benzene hexachloride solution to control lice and mange. Use a solution of .25% of the gamma isomer of benzene hexachloride. To make the solution use 20 lbs. of 10% gamma isomer wettable powder or 2.5 gals. of a 10% gamma isomer emulsifiable solution in 100 gals. of water.

12. Treat worm-infested pigs with a sodium floride feed mixture. For pigs weighing under 50 lbs. thoroughly mix .5 lb. of sodium fluoride with each 100 lbs. of dry mixed ration, and feed this dry mixture for 48 hours. For heavier pigs, thoroughly mix 1 lb. of sodium fluoride with each 100 lbs. of dry mixed ration, and feed dry for 24 hours.

Pay Firemen For Attendance

LAC LA BICHE — At last Tuesday's council meeting a recommendation was given by the finance to the effect that the local fire brigade be alloted a sum to be used as pay to firemen for attendance at practices. The payment would be retroactive to Sept. 1 of this year, but would be conditional on whether the estimates for fire prevention for the current year would leave an unused surplus after 1956 expenditures were totaled up. The amount the committee recommended, and in line with a request from the brigade earlier in the year, would be reckoned at the rate of $1,000.00 per year.

In presenting the recommendation the spokesman for the committee mentioned how extremely important the question of fire prevention was to the whole town. Council voted approval of the plan.

NEWS FROM OTHER ALBERTA TOWNS

Dr. Toogood Guest Speaker Home And School

The regular meeting of the Mannville and district HSA was held in the school auditorium on Thursday, Nov. 15. Mrs. R. Bang, president called the meeting to order. Following the opening exercises the guest speaker, Mr. Toogood of the University of Alberta was introduced. Dr. Toogood has just returned from a year's sabbatical leave in the British Isles and Europe. He chose as his topic, "Something Old, Something New". After spending nine months in London, one in Aberdeen and sometime in Denmark and western Europe at agricultural research centres he said the first thing he noticed was the contrast between Canada and the older countries. There are few established customs or traditions here but in the Old Country there are many. Development is taking place at a much slower rate than it is here. There are modern schools in England. The discipline is excellent and books are well supervised. The children receive half a pint of milk and a hot lunch each day. At the age of 11 they are given an examination to determine their general intelligence. This helps to decide their future plans for more advanced education. One of Dr. Toogood's sons, aged 13, attended a vocational school. Here a more general type of education was given. Neatness and discipline were very important. A child in England may start school during the quarter in which his or her 5th birthday falls.

There is a much broader general outlook in the old country. They are more interested in world affairs and cultural activities. Their BBC and television programs are marvellous. Listeners have a choice of three standards of programs — high, medium and low. In passing, Dr. Toogood remarked that he thought their low standard program was better than many of our so called good programs. There are also more opportunities to hear good music. There is a good appreciation of the other fine arts.

In England their social service program is far ahead of ours. Medical services are free, housing rentals are moderate. The cost of living is much the same. There is a new attitude developing among the laborers — namely that the world owes them a living. They are demanding more and offering less. They are not anxious to adopt the credit plan. Self-serve stores are not of interest to them. The housewife prefers to shop each day. They seem to be contented and not anxious to change.

The speaker was impressed by the imprint of history. There are wonderful old houses and castles and many of these have their traditional fireplaces. The names of famous men, such as Shakespeare and Sir Walter Scott seemed a part of this old land.

He noted that England has learned to handle her alcohol problem whereas here we have much to learn.

In closing he felt that the people as a whole were very cheerful, but that as a nation they were slipping a little.

Following his address, Dr. Toogood showed some very fine pictures of England, Scotland, Wales and Denmark.

An intelligent patient, who expects to get well, will not try to tell his doctor how to treat his particular ailment.

THIS LITTLE GIRL looks very happy and why wouldn't she, when mother has made these new matching outfits of felt for her four-year-old daughter and her favorite doll.

Church Pioneer A. B. Argue Dies

Rev. A. B. Argue, a pioneer of church work from 1903 to 191[illegible] districts east of Edmonton, died Tuesday at the age of 83. Mr. Argue served pastorates in Vegreville, Claresholm, Olds, Vermilion, and Stettler churches.

Before coming to Edmonton's Eastwood church in 1926, he had been pastor of St. Paul's and Hillhurst United churches in Calgary and a Millet church.

Retiring in 1941, Mr. Argue continued his church career as supply minister at Avonmore and Calvin United churches, and was secretary of the Edmonton presbytery for 14 years.

Mr. Argue, born in Stittsville, Ont., was educated at Almonte high school, McGill and Wesleyan theological college, Montreal.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Dr. Kenneth F. Argue, Vancouver, a daughter, Mrs. L. E. Lago, Edmonton, two grandchildren, two brothers, Dr. Fletcher Argue of Winnipeg, and Edward Argue, Carleton Place, Ont.; three sisters, Miss Annie and Miss Ida Argue of Carleton Place, Ont., and Mrs. Mann, Winnipeg.

Kills Two With One Shot

MANNVILLE — Anyone wanting any sharp shooting done in the near future will find the man they want in the Saltaux district. Walter Hinton, early in the morning last week shot at coyotes in his field, killing two with the one shot. He shot five in all, that morning. This should be a lesson to the coyotes to bypass his farm.

Timber Wolves At Salt Prairie

Timber wolves are coming into he settlement. About two weeks go, Ranger Nichols went to the ire look-out tower and saw the racks of five wolves, one an extra arge track, which he followed n the road for five or six miles.

Last week, Tom Thomas, when driving to a granary about half a mile from the house, saw four wolves, three black and one gray. Three of them were feeding on a young heifer calf. The fourth was near another calf, which was as yet unharmed. Mr. Thomas shouted a the wolves to drive them away, then returned to the house for a gun. However, they had disappeared when he returned.

Redwater Socreds Name Officers

SMOKY LAKE—The Redwater constituency Social Credit party held its annual meeting in the Ukrainian hall, Smoky Lake, recently with a good attendance. Marshall Muzyka presided, and John Dubetz, ex-president, acted as secretary for the occasion.

The following slate was elected for the 1957 year: president, H. S. Holowaychuk, Smoky Lake; first vice - president, Marshall Muzyka, Redwater; second vice-president, Mike Vitaly, Bellis; liaison officer, Peter Chaba, Redwater. The newly-elected executive chose Peter Ponich, Smoky Lake, as secretary-treasurer.

Besides the election of officers the meeting dealt with two other problems, namely, resolutions and delegates to the convention.

Two resolutions were formulated and sent to the Social Credit league headquarters to be presented at the next week's convention slated for the Macdonald hotel, Edmonton, and the choosing of delegate to the convention.

The following were named to represent the constituency at the convention: Peter Chaba, Mike Hrenchuk, Redwater; Mike Vitaly and Joseph Tchir, Bellis.

Members of the Ukrainian Women's Auxiliary served lunch at the conclusion of the meeting.

Installation Water & Sewerage System Heralded At Official Banquet

By T. W. PUE

WASKATENAU — A new page has been turned in the history of the village of Waskatenau with completion of the sewer and water installations.

To mark the occasion of the provision of running water in the homes, schools and business places of Waskatenau, a civic banquet was held in the community hall on Tuesday night of last week.

Head table guests included Mayor Steve and Mrs. Antoniuk of Smoky Lake; secretary A. J. and Mrs. Styra of Radway; Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. F. Wasnea, Mr. and Mrs. John Zadunayksi, Councillor Nestor Pukalo, former secretary Nick Makarenko of Waskatenau; Mayor Walter Farynowski of Warspite; Deputy Fire Commissioner Bedard, Mr. Bedard's assistant, Mr. Beland, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Pue, engineers H. Hinrichs and Wm. Patrick of Edmonton; Councillor Walter Chaba, Mayor and Mrs. Peter Czaba of Waskatenau; Mayor Walter Horne of Thorhild; Mrs. Joe Bielish, school trustee of Warspite and Alfred Maeyk, member of the Alberta legislature for Redwater constituency and councillor in the M.D. of Smoky Lake.

Mr. Makarenko did an outstanding job as master of ceremonies, in his own inimitable style. He introduced all head table guests and proposed a toast to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth. "Nick" as he is familiarly know, besides carrying on his teaching activities has for he past five years been secretary treasurer of the village. It has been during his tenure of office that the water and sewerage system was planned, financed, organized and managed.

Mayor Czaba paid tribute to the fine spirit of co-operation, particularly of past and present village councillors. His Worship remarked that a good supply of water is a vital factor in the life of any community. He said that if the water had been good-tasting in the Peace River country he would doubtless have made his home there as a young man.

Representatives of Associated Engineers who planned the survey and supervised the project were present in the persons of H. Hinrich and W. Patrick. Mr. Patrick reported that Waskatenau has a good supply of subterranean water, far better than from surface sources. He said the tower would soon be finished and the whole job completed.

Good Fire Protection

Deputy Fire Commissioner Bedard held out the definite prospect of lower fire insurance rates and complimented the village on having water storage in an elevated tower. It is much superior to subsurface storage in case of fire. He said volunteer fire brigade men rate the highest in public spirit. They should, said Mr. Bedard, be among the most highly respected group of people in any community.

Alfred Macyk, MLA, a former reeve of the M.D. of Smoky Lake, offered his congratulations to the village of Waskatenau on completion of the scheme. He said now Waskatenau will grow because more retiring farmers will want to settle in the village.

A route was paid to the excellent work of the ladies of the newly organized community centre group who served the supper.

Mrs. Martha Bielish, lady trustee on the board of Smoky Lake School Division brought greetings and good wishes from the school board. She stressed the point that a good supply of water was a necessity for strong, healthy youngsters and a very desirable thing to have it in the new schools being built.

Nestor Pukalo got a special word of commendation for his work in cooking the supper.

Secretary A. Styra of Radway said his village is now taking the first steps in providing for sewer and water installation. He commented that towns and villages should make efforts to keep retiring folks from leaving their friends and associates and have them settle in the local town or village instead of moving to the big city.

Mayor Walter Horne of Thorhild in congratulaing Waskatenau on getting running water now made reference to the misfortunes and delays afflicting the Thorhild program. Thorhild gets good water at 168 feet but it gathers silt in its flow and at present is unusable. It cost $9,000 to sink a 6 inch pipe to that depth and they have still to find a method of drawing the water without the silt.

Mayor Steve Antoniuk, in bringing greetings from nearby Smoky Lake pointed up a serious default at the banquet table. None if the much-vaunted Waskatenau water was available for guests to drink!

Another mayor who brought a message was Walter Farynowski of Warspite. Dave Yachimec accompanied Mayor Horne from Thorhild.

Bill Wilson of Waskatenau said a new community hall and community centre is wanted for Waskatenau. He said all the help and support and co-operation Waskatenau people can give is needed to complete these projects.

Special tributes for their work since the water and sewerage was first planned were paid to John Zadunayski, Frank Wasnea, John Kotylak, George Repka, Robert Thomas, Philip Latersky, Water Chaba and Nestor Pukalo.

Other guests included Bob and Mrs. Gary, Keith and Mrs. Nicholson of the Utilities staff and plumbers J. Kaban and Pete Melnyk.

Crushed By Truck Resident Dies

Mannville and Vermilion district was shocked and saddened on Friday by the accidental death of one of the prominent young farmers of the Mannville district. Johnny McLaughlin was repairing his truck in the garage at his farm home when the jack slipped letting the truck fall, crushing him. Mrs. McLaughlin, hearing the noise immediately summoned aid but he never regained consciousness.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin are well known farmers of the Braes district and have been active workers in all community affairs. The esteem with which he was held was shown by the many neighbors and friends who attended the funeral in Holy Name Catholic Church, Vermilion on Tuesday morning. High mass was sung by Father Landrigan. Interment was in the Catholic Cemetery at Vermilion with Movers Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. McLaughlin leaves his widow, Margaret; two children Jimmy and Beverley; four brothers at Mannville, Emmett, Francis, Leonard and Pat; two sisters at the coast, Angeline and Victorine; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McLaughlin of Vermilion.

Safe Drivers At A Premium

EDMONTON (BUP) — The Junior Chamber of Commerce is scraping the barrel in an attempt to find safe drivers.

Five weeks ago, the Jaycees began a safe driving campaign with the intention of awarding a plaque weekly to the safest driver chosen from among half-a-dozen candidates. Since then, members are finding it tough to find someone to qualify for the award. For example, in the third week, no candidates were found, although officials cruised 600 miles of city streets in their quest.

Teenagers Steal Auto Land In Court

BRANDON, Man., (BUP) — A pair of Alberta teenagers were to appear in Brandon Magistrate's court following a wild four-hour 150-mile chase across western Manitoba in a reportedly stolen auto.

The two youths, James Douglas Bain of Edmonton and Stanley Faulder of Jasper, both 19, were arrested Saturday night by pursuing RCMP officers after their car failed to make a turn and ploughed into a ditch near Griswold, Man.

Police said the last part of the four-hour chase took place in a snowstorm which cut visibility and made driving treacherous.

The youths, driving a high-powered, late-model car reported stolen Friday in Port Arthur, crashed two RCMP road blocks and tried to shake off pursuing police by leaving the highway for a while and crashing through the adjoining underbrush.

Changes deep inside the core of the earth are causing the mean position of the North Magnetic Pole to drift about 4 miles a year slightly east of north at the present time.

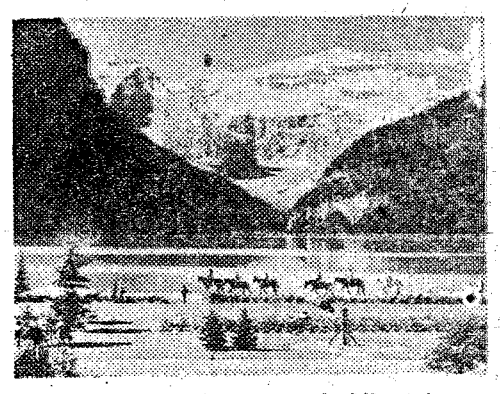
YOUR ALBERTA

The response to our first column "Your Alberta" was most gratifying. Replies were received from every corner of our Province. It's encouraging to know how much everyone is interested in the workings of the various departments of the Government. So—keep your requests coming and let's continue to hear from you.

One of the most uncomfortable words in government lexicon is that of "grant". As the man said when he first saw a giraffe, "there just ain't no such animal". Yet the term is bruited about at all levels of government, within and without the provincial administration. Actually, the government is granting nothing. No government has anything to grant. It does however, sometimes re-apportion revenue collected from one source, to disbursements it believes is doing the most good for the most people.

For example, the cities in the province serve not only the people within their corporate limits, but also the people from the surrounding districts who use city facilities. The farmers in to shop use the paved streets; the light and power facilities; the police protections; in fact, hundreds of services never considered in normal course of events. By the same token, it seems unreasonable to ask the cities to pay complete cost of providing those services to visitors. So some of the revenue that accrues from points outside of the cities is returned to the cities in the re-apportionment of revenues, along with moneys already collected from within the urban confines.



LAKE LOUISE—one of Alberta's scenic tourist attractions.

Last year, for example, Edmonton received "grants" approximately $8,315,435. Part of it came from the city's fuel oil tax share, some $1,572,690. Another $4,307,915 came from the education department grant. The balance was obtained through the departments of Public Health, Highways, Welfare and Attorney General.

Calgary, along with the other 7 cities, shared in this re-allotment of revenue. It received $6,181,639. The fuel oil tax provided $1,268,356. Others had received cheques also, with Wetaskiwin endorsing cheques for $220,000. Camrose, for $163,000. Lethbridge, for $1,293,000; Drumheller for $146,000. Medicine Hat, for $556,000; and Red Deer, for $399,000.

There are scores of other ways in which the cities, and other communities—received benefit from government services. One that still keeps within the realm of the touchy pocketbook was the saving of interest charges for many capital outlays, through the province's Municipal Capital Expenditure Loans Act. There was $27,385,000 loaned out to the eight cities last year at 3½ percent. This is quite a saving on municipal coffers in interest charges, compared with the commercial 5½ to 6 percent possibly charged outside.

That's it for now! Be seeing you soon . . .

Your Future is Here . . . In Alberta!

City Fire Laddies Support Drive For Muscular Dystrophy Victims

Fire Departments are leading the fight against Muscular Dystrophy, according to Arthur Minden, president of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada. When the national association conducted its first campaign for funds in 1954, it was the effort of firemen in communities, large and small, that made possible the collection of close to a quarter million dollars. Last year over one hundred fire departments brought in half the monies donated by a generous public.

In Edmonton, the City Fire Department is behind the campaign 100%. Every possible speck of co-operation is being extended to the cause by the local Edmonton fire-fighters.

The money raised in this national campaign goes to finance 11 research projects at five centres across the country, to set up clinics to find muscular dystrophy patients and to help them by providing wheel chairs and other orthopaedic treatment. "Research into the cause which will lead to a cure for this mystery killer is the crying need," said Mr. Minden, "and the energy and enthusiasm of fire-fighters across Canada who have helped collect the money required to finance this research is appreciated by our organization and by the many thousands of Canadians who suffer from muscular dystrophy."

Mr. Minden pointed to the co-operation of the firemen and other community service organizations as a demonstration of true citizenship. "We cannot fully express our gratitude for your unselfish and humanitarian efforts on behalf of the child and adult victims of this crippling and, to date, fatal disease.

Blocked Suez Canal Creates Oil Demand

EDMONTON (BUP) — The blocked Suez Canal and the uncertainty of the Midle East situation has resulted in a record high demand for Alberta oil during the month of December.

Crude oil buyers have asked the provincial conservation board for a total of 447,896 barrels a day for the month. This compares with the previous record of 447,111 barrels daily for August, 1956 and the 411,992 barrel oil demand for November.
